FORESTS AND FLOOD CONTROL

Recent experiments carried on by the United States forest service in many parts of this country show the influence of forests on run-off and stream flow is an important factor in flood control, says R. F. Hemingway, forest supervisor of the Cumberland national forest.

Thru the experiments it was found that run-off from cultivated land following severe rains was as high as 125 times as fast as that from undisturbed forest land. Forest fires in old growth pine hardwood forest increases surface run-off on an average of ten times over that of unburned forest of the same type and as much as 32 times in individual storms. In the comparison of two canyons, one burned and one unburned, the run-off ratio was found to be 22 to 1, for the ratio of eroded soil and debris was more than 1100 to 1.

The slower run-off of water from forest land can be accounted for by several conditions found only in such areas. The forest litter, which is made up of the leaves, twigs, and debris which cover the forest floor, is capable of absorbing from 150 to 900 percent of its own weight in water. Forests also retard freezing of forest soils and hence the retention of its capacity for absorbing water, reduces evaporation from the soil, and the trees and plants themselves consume water which may exceed in some cases a total annual precipitation for the area occupied. In other words, the forest acts like a great sponge and is nature's best water and soil holder.

It was pointed out that the primary reason for the establishment of the national forest was for the protection of watersheds. The effect that a project will have on the watershed is always taken into consideration before any work is started on the national forest, whether it be road construction, cutting timber, planting, and the numerous other projects carried by the forest service.

Flood conditions, such as are now causing great losses in Kentucky, are taken into consideration in the construction of roads, bridges, recreational areas, etc., and the Cumberland national forest reports that all its roads so far constructed are well above the high water and in good condition for travel. Building roads of this nature often necessitates heavy construction and the building of high bridges, but the value of all-weather roads has many times proved itself the most economical in the long run.

TWO VIEWS OF THE CCC

The CCC
There's a fine young fellow in barracks four.
With a prize winning bunk near the southern door.
When it comes to doing things, why, he's a whiz.
And out on the job—he sure knows his biz.
While the whistle still blows—he's out of bed,
Puts on his clothes and combs his head;
Polices his section—does it well—
Is ready for breakfast with the sound of the bell.
The work call sounds with him among the first in line,
Ready for work—always on time.
And out in the sticks—he's right there, you bet,
Even when the weather is cold and wet.
Now this young man is a CCC
In our company, nineteen sixtythree,
And just one of the many that when given a test
Come out on top—one of the best.
OAKLEY NICKELL

My Old Kentucky Home
I'm in the hills of old Montana,
Where it is always cold,
And the wind falls in the winter,
Where the sun always blows.
But I long to be in Kentucky,
Where the sun always shines,
Where the birds sing in the tree tops,
Or on the honeysuckle vines.
Back in old Kentucky
Is where I long to be,
Far from old Montana,
And away from the CCC.
I can see my gray haired mother
And dear old dad, all alone,
Sitting around the coal stove,
Waiting for their son to come home.
How I wish I was back with them,
In my old Kentucky home,
To soothe mother's longings,
And my father's wish for his son!
DORSIE McCLAIN

Mrs. Stella Lewis and nephew, Woodrow Hopkins, are able to be out.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

In transferring from the original list to the typewritten list furnished the Licking Valley Courier for publication of the names and amounts of those who had contributed to the Morgan county chapter of American Red Cross, an error was made in that we failed to list the following:

Jasper Jones	$5.00
Gypsy Griffith	1.00
Uriah Griffith	1.00

The above contributions were included in the total of $346.09. I regret that this mistake occurred.

Since the list was published, I am pleased to acknowledge receipt of the following:

W. S. Potts	$10.00
Emily Spencer	1.00

This brings the total up to and including January 28 to $357.09.

In addition to the above cash contributions, there was a most satisfactory quantity of blankets, quilts, clothing, and provisions turned in to the local Red Cross chapter, which thru the assistance of Lockwood Elam, Clifford Blevins, and Rodney Cottle I got delivered by trucks to Louisville. I have receipt for same as follows:

"To the Red Cross of Morgan county: We appreciate all of your thoughtfulness in this time of great need and distress. Hope that some time the citizens of Louisville can do as much for you. (Signed) Committee on Clothing and Food. Norman K. Denham."

The following is a summary of the commodities etc. received from Morgan county citizens, and delivered:

65 quilts, 36 blankets, 45 men's coats, 65 quilts, 74 pairs men's pants, 17 shirts (boys' and men's), 18 pairs boys' pants, 57 pairs men's and boys' underwear, 32 pairs shoes (assorted), 10 pounds sugar, 2 pounds salt, 1 pound crackers, boys' clothing (assorted), ladies' sweaters (assorted), 5 pairs pillow cases, 3 pairs boots, 6 sheets, and 8 towels.

Morgan Co. Chapt. Am. Red Cross.

WEDDING SHOWER

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Lykins, two recently married couples, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Brong on Friday night, Jan. 29, and presented a fine assortment of useful gifts, with best wishes for happy homes.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Lykins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wells, Mrs. C. S. Wells, Mrs. J. C. Nickell, Mrs. J. D. Lykins, Mrs. F. S. Brong, Mrs. Lou Cox, Mrs. Chester Hughes and daughter Margaret Joyce, Mrs. Ance Fugett and daughter Edith Carol, Mrs. Mona Wells, Misses Mary Jane Cox, Elizabeth Wells, Lovel Brong, and Anna Ruth Lykins, and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Byars.

The following persons were not present for the shower, but presented gifts to at least one of the couples: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cole, Mrs. Nell Cole Taulbee, Mrs. Dewitt C. Ferguson, Mrs. R. J. Poynter, Mrs. Homer Haney, Mrs. Ida Short, and Miss Gypsy Griffiths.

LADIES' AID MEETS
The Ladies' Aid society met Jan. 28 in the home of Mrs. Ezra Wells. The meeting was called to order and the devotional service was conducted by the president, Miss Josephine McGuire, reading the second chapter of Hebrews.

A delightful evening was spent working on a quilt and making rugs. The hostess served delicious home-made candy and apples to the following members: Mrs. Mildred May, Mrs. Ollie McClain, Miss Josephine McGuire, Mrs. Harlan Murphy, Mrs. Jennie May, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, Mrs. Tom Caskey, Mrs. Cox McGuire, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, Mrs. Gordon Adkins, Mrs. Archie McClain, Mrs. C. C. May, Mrs. Ezra Wells.

The president reported that $10 donated to the flood sufferers was expended for blankets which were sent to Louisville with the Red Cross donations.

Refugees Safe Here

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Steele and Miss Anna Cottle, all of Louisville, are here with relatives until things are more nearly normal at Louisville. Mr. and Mrs. Steele deserted their home when the flood reached a height of 52 feet and began to fill the basement. The home of R. A. Dean, where Miss Cottle was staying, is high and dry, but was closer to water than she cared to be until the air is less saturated.

Tax Commissioners to Meet

The commissioners appointed by the county judge to adjust and equalize assessments for the year 1937 will meet at the courthouse on Monday, February 8. The board is composed of A. M. Nickell, T. H. Henry, Willie Sherman, and D. P. McKenzie.

AWAITING COURT ACTION

Three West Liberty boys, ages 15, 16, and 16, who shall be nameless here, are in the Morgan county jail charged with breaking into the Carpenter store building and robbing the cash drawer during the supper hour on Friday night of last week.

Why these boys should have the desire and the opportunity to do the thing they are charged with is a matter for all parents and teachers to consider.

BROOKS — COX

Miss Daisy Brooks of Woodbend and Jesse Cox of Middletown, Ohio, were married Friday night, Jan. 29, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Roscoe Brong, Rev. Brong officiating. Edgar Cochran and Herbert Fannin witnessed the ceremony.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Brooks of Woodbend, and has been one of Morgan county's school teachers.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Cox of Liberty Road. The new couple are making their home at Middletown, Ohio, where Mr. Cox has been employed for some time.

NEWSPAPER SERVICES

A more striking exhibition of loyalty to community and devotion to duty than was displayed by the Louisville papers during the flood period in that ill fated city would be hard to find.

These papers are owners of the principal radio station in Louisville, and when the Ohio river silenced the papers by flooding the machinery and equipment, the powerful organization of these papers turned to the radio station to distribute news and rescue services. All commercial programs were discontinued and the relief of the distressed people of the city was its only concern. Day and night, without any intermission for 187.5 hours, this valiant WHAS was on duty to save lives, relieve distress, and give aid and comfort to all in need.

The newspapers themselves are now getting back to a semblance of normalcy. To the Courier-Journal and the Louisville Times came the opportunity for great service, and they met the opportunity.

SEWING CIRCLE ENTERTAINS

The open house day of the sewing project in West Liberty on Friday, Jan. 29, was a fine success. It was the first of its kind given by the new manager, Mrs. R. J. Poynter, and she was much pleased to have 75 visitors register.

As usual, the ladies were quite pleased with their beautiful layettes. This time they almost outdid themselves. The baby, being on good behavior, sat smilingly in its bassinet, which was decorated with a large blue bow. It was clothed in a beautiful blue robe and cap. The baby dress on display had dainty hand-made buttons. The hand-made shoes were lovely. The hose, little shirt, bands, sleeping bag, and other garments were of nice material and were daintily made. The blue blanket decorated with a white bunny was especially attractive.

There were house dresses, outing gowns, princess slips, dainty dresses, little coats, and other garments for children.

The men visitors thought the neatly made trousers, shirts, ties, and pajamas very fine, but they were particularly interested in the adjustable shorts.

Mrs. Poynter is much interested in the work and is a pleasant hostess.

REPORT FROM EMPLOYERS DUE

Many employers thruout the state are unaware that they are liable for contributions for unemployment.

This item is intended to reach all employers in this area in order to relieve them of full liability to both the state and federal governments.

According to the law, passed by the legislature and signed by the governor on December 29, 1936, employers of eight or more must pay to the state nine tenths of one percent of their payroll for that year. These contributions must be in the hands of the commission at Frankfort not later than Feb. 27, 1937. In determining the payroll for state purposes the wages of those persons doing other than manual labor and earning more than $2600 a year are to be excluded. If he does manual labor, regardless of what his earnings are, he is not to be excluded.

All employers, regardless of the number they employ, must send in a report to determine liability. However, no contribution report is required unless they are liable under the act.

After the employer remits his contribution to the state, he will then report to the federal government the amount of his total payroll and remit to them one percent of all wages paid by him, less the amount paid the state. The federal government will be notified by the state that the employer has paid his state contribution.

In the event the employer does not make his contribution by the deadline date, he will be liable for nine tenths of one percent to the state and one percent to the federal government. He can be relieved of this extra burden by remitting nine tenths of one percent of his payroll to the state unemployment compensation commission at Frankfort before the deadline date. When this is done, he will remit to the federal government only the difference between one percent of his total payroll and the amount paid to the state. The law provides for certain exemptions. Among them are: agricultural labor, domestic service in a private home, and service of persons under 21 years of age in the employ of their father, mother, son, daughter, or spouse.

For the calendar year of 1937, employers of four or more individuals will deduct from the wages of each employee nine tenths of one percent of his or her wages and hold this amount in trust together with the employer's contribution until it is requested by the commission. The employer's contribution for the calendar year of 1937 will be 1.8 percent of his payroll. For instance: If an employer is earning $20 per week the employer will deduct 18 cents from his wages, taking care to notify him for what purpose the deduction was made. The employer will set aside 36 cents as his contribution on this person's wages and will remit both contributions, upon demand, in the amount of 54 cents.

These references pertain to unemployment contributions and nothing else. These contributions are exclusive of old age benefits and any other social security taxation.

All remittances, communications, or inquiries should be addressed to the Unemployment Compensation Commission at Frankfort.

REVIVAL IN MARCH

Rev. V. B. Castleberry of Ashland has accepted a call to hold a revival meeting at the Baptist church in West Liberty beginning March 15, 1937.

Rev. Castleberry is a forceful, faithful preacher of the Word. He will be remembered by many of the people here for his fine work with this church a number of years ago. His friends will rejoice to know he is coming back; others will find it well worth while to hear and get acquainted with this experienced and scriptural evangelist.

This meeting is announced far enough in advance so that it is hoped no other meeting will be arranged to conflict, but that the entire community may come together for a real spiritual revival.

Depart This Life

COTTE

Nancy Cottle, wife of James Cottle, and daughter of H. A. and Laura Wells (the mother deceased), was born March 18, 1882, died Feb. 1, 1937, aged 54 years, 11 months, and 14 days. She was converted and gave her heart to God in March, 1900.

Mrs. Cottle had been in poor health for some time. She left written instructions, dated April 24 and May 18, 1936, for her funeral services. It was her special request that Bros. Roscoe Brong and Harlan Murphy preach the funeral, with prayer by Bro. Jesse Adams. She requested the scripture reading from the sermon on the mount, together with I Thes. 3:13, and specified Mat. 6:20 for the text. She is survived by her husband, Jas. E. Cottle; her father, H. A. Wells; three sisters, Lucy Elam of Richmond, Katharine Allen of Middletown, O., and Edna Wells at home; and five brothers, Warren Wells of Mansfield, Ill., W. H. Wells of Licking River, and W. B. Wells, Ray Wells, and Edgar Wells, of West Liberty.

Funeral services were held at the H. A. Wells home Wednesday, Feb. 3, with ministers and text as requested. Burial was in Cottle cemetery.

GOSE

Jim Frank Gose was born Feb. 24, 1849, died Feb. 1, 1937, at the home of his son-in-law, Ollie Haney, at Stacy Fork, Kentucky, aged 87 years, 11 months, and 7 days.

Brother Gose became a member of the Christian church in early life, and lived a true and faithful life in his Christ until the end came. He was ever ready and willing to assist in every Christian enterprise, laboring continually in his feeble way to enlarge his vision for a better and nobler life.

The very fineness of his soul added to the loneliness he endured. He was patient, long suffering, sacrificial in his devotion to his home and family. No children ever had a more cheerful or loving father. He was always anxious to see them come and never gave anything but the best advice.

In building his earthly home he did not forget to build for eternity. He thought and talked much of his eternal home. He dedicated his life by his words and actions to the heavenly Father, and his interests in heaven were surely many. He has now paid the debt that we all must pay and has passed on into that unseen world to be with his Savior. He leaves besides his aged wife six children, John Henry Gose of Woodbend, A. A. Gose of Foster, Ohio, Lizzie Haney of Stacy Fork, Barbara E. Haney of Stacy Fork, Phillip S. Gose of Morrow, Ohio, and Carolina Brown of Greear; and a host of other relatives and friends.

On account of the illness of Mrs. Ollie Haney, only a short funeral service was held at the Haney cemetery by Rev. Harlan Murphy in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives on Feb. 3, 1937.

Paper Hard to Get

Our regular supply of newsprint again failed to get thru. We hope that by next week we will be able to print our regular 8-page edition.

Dr. H. B. Murray, Auty McClain, and Charley Franklin were in Louisville on Sunday to see Mr. McClain's brother Henry, who is in the Norton hospital. He is holding his own in spite of the view of the flood he had from his window.

Born, Sunday, Jan. 31, to Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Boggs in the Mary Chiles hospital at Mt. Sterling, a fine boy. We join their friends here in extending congratulations.

Billy Keeton was tied up with flu and unable to take part in the basketball game Tuesday evening. His brother Charles is getting out some.

Mrs. B. E. Whitt is at Mordica with her mother, Mrs. Gon Walsh. All the children are home at the bedside of their mother, who is quite aged.

Mrs. Arlan Lacy of Elamton, who was in the hospital last week with flu, was able to be taken home on Monday.

Miss Hattie Gibbs is quite sick with the flu and has been unable to be in the bank since Saturday.

The flu has been treating Sam Spencer quite roughly, but he was feeling a little better yesterday.

FARMERS' COLUMN

APPROVED SOIL PRACTICES, 1937

Rates of payment for soil building practices in 1937, together with other provisions of the agricultural conservation program for Kentucky, are announced thru the university of Kentucky college of agriculture.

Acres of crop diversion this year will be about the same as in 1936, except that the maximum diversion from the burley tobacco base for which payment will be made is 25 percent instead of 30 percent.

Soil building payments, in addition to diversion payments, will be made for carrying out soil building practices. The maximum amount that can be earned as a soil building payment for a farm is called the soil building allowance, the same as in 1936. The soil building payment will be the amount actually earned for carrying out specified soil building practices.

The method of determining the soil building allowance is different than was used last year. In general, farms not eligible to earn a diversion payment will have a slightly larger allowance than similar farms that are eligible to earn a diversion payment.

On farms eligible to earn a diversion payment, the soil building allowance will include $1 times the minimum acreage of soil conserving crops on the farm. The minimum acreage of soil conserving crops for a farm will be the acreage of soil conserving crops normally grown on the farm plus the number of acres diverted from soil depleting bases in 1937.

On farms not eligible to earn a diversion payment, the soil building allowance will include 75 cents times each acre of crop land on the farm.

In addition, the soil building allowance for all farms, whether eligible to earn a diversion payment or not, will also include:

$1 for each acre of commercial orchards on the farm Jan. 1, 1937.

$1 for each acre on which only one crop of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

$2 for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

25 cents for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land in excess of one half the number of acres of crop land on the farm.

Legumes and Perennial Grasses

The following rates of payment are provided for planting approved seeds of legumes and perennial grasses:

Alfalfa, $2.50 an acre.

Red clover, mammoth clover, sericea, kudzu, and bluegrass, $2 an acre.

Austrian winter peas, vetch, crimson clover, alsike clover, sweet clover, annual lespedeza, orchard grass, and reed canary grass, $1.50 an acre.

White clover, bur clover, crotalaria, redtop, and timothy, $1 an acre.

In case a mixture is used, the rate of payment will depend upon the kind and quality of legumes and grasses in the mixture.

Green Manure and Cover Crops

The following rates are provided for plowing or disking under crops as green manure after the crop has attained a normal growth of at least two months, or leaving on the land certain of these crops grown in 1937:

Soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas plowed or disked under, $2 an acre.

Crimson clover, Austrian winter peas, or vetch, plowed or disked under; rye, barley, wheat, Italian rye grass, oats, buckwheat, or mixtures of these, plowed or disked under; sudan grass, millet, sorghum, or rape, plowed or disked under; soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, not grazed or pastured or harvested for grain, when all of the forage is left on the land, and lespedeza left on the land, $1 an acre.

Payments also are provided for special orchard practices for growing crops to be left in orchards and for applying mulching materials in commercial orchards.

For planting forest trees payment will be made at the rate of $7.50 an acre when planted on crop land, and at the rate of $5 an acre on other land. Payment also will be made for thinning desirable species of forest trees, if approved in advance by the county committee, at the rate of $2.50 an acre.

Limestone

Payments for applying ground limestone will be based upon the number of tons applied, rather than the acres covered, as was the case last year. Also, three different rates of payments will be applicable in the state, depending upon the cost of limestone in the respective counties.

For applying not less than 1,000 pounds an acre of ground limestone, or its equivalent, on crop land or non-crop pasture land, or not less than 500 pounds an acre if the application is made by drilling with the seed of specified legumes or perennial grasses, payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 2½ tons an acre at the rate of $2.50 a ton in Knott, Leslie, Letcher, Perry, and Pike counties; at the rate of $2 a ton in Bell, Breathitt, Clay, Floyd, Harlan, Johnson, Knox, Magoffin, Martin, and Whitley counties; and in all other counties at the rate of $1.50 a ton.

Superphosphate

For applying not less than 100 pounds an acre of 20 percent superphosphate, or its equivalent, on any permanent pasture, or in connection with seeding or maintaining specified legumes or perennial grasses, payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 500 pounds an acre at the rate of 75 cents per 100 pounds. If the superphosphate is applied in connection with specified legumes or perennial grasses seeded in connection with soil depleting crops, the payment will be at the rate of 37½ cents per 100 pounds.

In connection with the practice of applying superphosphate, the agricultural adjustment administration will make available a supply of triple superphosphate, which is approximately 43 percent phosphoric acid, at Sheffield, Alabama. Within the limit of this supply, farmers may, upon requests filed at the county office, and the payment of freight and handling charges, obtain and use the triple superphosphate in lieu of receiving the payments which are otherwise provided.

For terracing crop land or non-crop pasture land which the county committee finds is in need of terracing with a sufficient amount of properly constructed terrace to give adequate protection against erosion, payment will be made at the rate of 40 cents per 100 feet of terrace.

Mass Meetings for Farmers
County Agent Yandall Wreather will hold meetings at the following places for the purpose of explaining more about this program:

BOB JONES' COMMENTS

Recently there came into the hands of the writer a university magazine containing quotations from a world wide minister concerning science and religion. The minister, according to the report, said in part, "The spirit of religion without the technique of science will not do it." (that is, save the modern world) "and the technique of science without the drive and passion and altruism and dynamic and goal of religion, I don't think can do it either. You have got to have both."

The writer has heard for a long time that this world-renowned minister is modernistic. If the minister is properly quoted in the article to which we refer, he is modernistic. There isn't one single thing that science can do to save the modern world. Science can destroy the modern world, and that is what science is getting ready to do. If the minister had said that Christianity is the only thing that can save us from the destructive power of man's inventive genius and scientific accomplishments, I would have agreed with him. Science can light your room at night, but it cannot light the human heart in the hour of sorrow. Science may add to the physical comforts of life, but it has no message for a broken heart. Science represents man's achievement. Salvation is God's accomplishment. The salvation of the human soul was bought with the blood which Jesus Christ shed on the cross.

Salvation is a fact. God in His infinite wisdom has formulated a plan by which He proposes the salvation of lost men. The plan began in the mind of God. If man had been the author of a plan of salvation, he would have made salvation depend upon man's achievement. The religions of the world say, "Do and live." The religion of the Bible says, "Live and do." The writer knows enough about human nature from years of experience in contact with men to know that the plan of salvation outlined in the Bible did not start with man. It is God's plan. It cost the life blood of God's Son, The Spirit of God seals the contract and makes us know we are children of God. This plan of salvation is extended to the universal world. Whosoever will may come. God has provided that which the human heart needs. His salvation is by grace. The gift of God is eternal life. Men cannot buy salvation. They cannot pay for it after they get it. They must accept it by faith. In the nail pierced hand of Jesus, there is a pardon offered to all men. But this pardon has no value to the one who will not accept it.

MUSIC PROJECT

One of the purposes of the music project is to give employment to musicians on the relief rolls. The second purpose is to give music instruction to the public. Music for grown people is a matter of enjoyment, it serves as a refreshing contrast to their daily occupation. There will always be more people who listen to music than the number who participate in making music. Adult education recognizes that there are many people who desire to extend their knowledge in music or to make up for lost time. Anyone who carefully observes is impressed by the extent to which music enters into the life of a people. In churches, radio, bands, orchestras, and community singing are examples of its influence. More people are interested in music than in any other one adult interest. This is evidenced by the fact that in the music project just begun here at West Liberty more than sixty people have applied to take part in the music project. At present the plan is to have three groups of people. One group will meet at 6:30 p.m. and is composed mostly of people who work or are unable to meet at any other time. One group meets in the basement of the old school building Mondays and Wednesdays; this is the junior group. The third group, the senior group, meets Wednesdays and Thursdays in the basement of the old school building. Three types of courses will be given: a string band composed only of stringed instruments, an orchestra, and a band. BERNARD E. WHITT

TO NURSERY SCHOOL PATRONS

I desire to express sincere thanks for the deep interest you have manifested. Forty-two children have been enrolled. Because of illness the attendance dropped the last few weeks. We hope however that they will all soon return. Lunches were served until last week and were free to January. Since that time we received no requisitions. The teachers and some of the parents contributed and lunches were continued into the last three days. We feel that work has been very good. I have a report from Miss Shelby, state supervisor of nursery schools, in which she commended the school here very highly after her visit. At first and at various times since the school began I visited most of the homes with the nurse or one of the teachers. It was planned to visit the homes at least once each month or oftener, but owing to illness and unavoidable absence of one of the teachers this has not been possible. The outstanding purpose of the nursery school is health, which is under the supervision of the nurse. She has visited the homes, checked the children's health each day, and kept important records regarding their medical examinations. I am planning for her to visit the home and talk with the mothers regarding the health program and I hope they will enter freely into the problems of the child.

A MOST SERIOUS THING

West Liberty, Ky., Feb. 2, 1937
B. E. Whitt, West Liberty, Ky.
Dear Mr. Whitt:
If anyone has told you that it was a joke to organize and teach a class of adults, and get them interested, you can tell them for me that they had better leave the teaching profession. For as I understand it, the present time it is the most serious thing I have ever tackled in my life. I have fifteen students to date and I am very proud to say they are all interested and doing good work. Many more are becoming interested and asking questions and I think that I will soon double my enrollment. Mr. Whitt, does the government furnish any courses of any kind that would help students after they leave school and have a good general education? There are many students who are interested in such a class, some even high school graduates who haven't a chance to go to college.

We need much material of every kind and lots of advice too. Pencils and paper and books—and I could get a class in kindergarten if I had crayons, picture books, and scissors. I suppose you will wonder if I could think of anything else.
Very sincerely yours,
EDNA HUTCHINSON,
WPA Adult Education Teacher.

THE CORNFIELD PHILOSOPHER

From the very earliest times the English people have liked a rustic philosopher; our earliest known poet, Caedmon, was reputed to have been an illiterate monk at Whitby, on the east coast of England, who retold in verse the stories of the Bible. Bede, the historian of Old English times, says that Caedmon's gift was divine, since he had no education and learning and could not even write his name. Ever since that time we have delighted to honor the wise man who somehow had acquired more wisdom than circumstances would seem to explain. Our earliest American philosopher of this type was the stage Yankee, an awkward but wise young chap from the hills of New England. Just before the Civil war we had many ignorant wise men who laughed at our sectional foibles: John Phoenix, Artemus Ward, Petroleum Vespasian, Mark Twain was a later product of this same tradition. Through his long literary career he drew on his knowledge of folk life, his greatest creation, Huckleberry Finn, is certainly a wise person who knows more than most of his contemporaries.

The folk philosopher of every section hates sham and often resorts to horse laughter to make all forms of hypocrisy ridiculous. In our own time no one has made more people laugh and think than Will Rogers. Until his death a few years ago, Abe Martin brought us daily the thoughts and reactions of a southern Indiana farmer. Ring Lardner created a whole folk grammar for his numerous characters, many of whom could be regarded as philosophers.

Probably the wisest rustic philosophers have not yet got into print. Sitting by some village store today is a wiseacre who can ridicule sham as effectively and as picturesquely as any literary character we have ever known. You and I have quoted these rural wiseacres all our lives, conscious that what they say in their own way is often the essence of wisdom. I can recall nothing funnier than the remarks I heard made around the stove of the general store nearly a half century ago. Few of the actual remarks would bear printing, but the wisdom behind them stands out years after the philosopher has departed.

Efforts to convey the speech of the cornfield philosopher have usually resulted in unconvincing spelling. Nothing short of a recording device could catch the true tones of the philosopher. Nasal, drawing, full of picturesque and often ancient language, his sayings defy spelling and imitation. The literary characters that have been developed from this type are good, but they are still far below the reality.

Some of the wisest things I ever heard were said all unceremoniously by people who were regarded as half-wits but who continued to say thru a whole period of years things that probably were wiser than most of us could take in. Mark Twain's Pudd'n-head Wilson could be duplicated everywhere: his remarks were so much above the general level of intelligence that his neighbors thought him the half-wit. Pont Stone, dead now for several years, was a half-witted Negro of our neighborhood who stumbled sometimes into profound truths, apparently as blissfully unconscious of his performance as a bird is of its song. His native remarks would fill many a column of this length and would be well worth saving from oblivion. Your neighborhood has a wise man—actual or accidental—whose words should be preserved for other people to ponder.—Kentucky Folklore Series.

CROCKETT SCHOOL NEWS

Students on the honor roll for the past semester were Clarence Wright, Robert Smith, Hearst Holbrook, Ann Conley, Dora Hutchinson, Pauline Cox, Ola Skaggs, Clara Skaggs, and Laura Fyffe.

Clarence Wright's grades for the semester averaged A. He is a very studious boy, and does real school work.

Five new students enrolled for this semester's school work: Alice Fanning, Buck Lyons, Desha Ison, Ivan Ball, and Greene Adkins.

The athletic club met Wednesday, Jan. 27, and elected new officers, as follows: president, Stanley Ball; vice president, Ernest Hutchinson; secretary and treasurer, Martin Adkins; custodian, Johnny Ferguson.

The Tigers ordered a new ball, and are expecting hard practice from now on until the tournament.

The Crockett grades closed their basketball season with ten victories and no losses. Following is a list of the games and scores: Crockett vs. Syndias Creek, four games, scores 18-1, 16-3, 17-0, and 26-3; Crockett vs. Watson, four games, scores 11-6, 16-11, 18-12, and 13-12; Crockett vs. Adkins, two games, scores 37-6 and 23-9. The Crockett players are Newt Ferguson, Leslie Ison, Bradford Ison, Dewey Ison, Clyde Ferguson, Glenn Ball, Ford Ferguson, Franklin Whitely, Stanley Gilliam, Resvie Wheeler, and Roscoe Conley. Look out! These boys are soon going to represent Crockett high!

Attendance of fifth month for the intermediate grades:

In-Between Performance Refreshments

George Levinson, Jerome Walters and Donald Sharpe, popular young members of "Dead End" found between performances indulging in refreshments.

THREE popular young members of Sidney Kingsley's hit drama, "Dead End," may frequently be found between performances indulging in refreshments prepared by Don Sharpe, youthful Hollywood star featured in the play. Fruit is often the mainstay of these quickly prepared refreshments, and canned Hawaiian pineapple cut in the new rectangular wedges is the latest acquisition to Don's list of favorite ready to serve fruits.

These little gems of Hawaiian sun-ripened flavor are cut to fit the mouth, easy to eat and just the thing to quiet those in-between-performance-hunger pangs—three good reasons, according to Don for their popularity with himself as well as the other youthful members of the cast of "Dead End." When there is more time to devote to the preparation of refreshments, Don Sharpe, who is a budding young culinary genius as well as a promising actor who has helped to make "Dead End" a success in many of the large cities, delights his fellow actors with this salad in which the pineapple gems are a prime ingredient.

Gem Nut Salad

3 cups Hawaiian pineapple gems
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts (walnuts, pecans or peanuts)
6 canned or steamed dried figs (stuffed with cream cheese)
Chicory or romaine
2 cups orange sections
Drain pineapple gems, dry on absorbent paper, dip in mayonnaise and finely chopped nuts. For each serving arrange 1 stuffed fig on crisp chicory or romaine, surround with gems, and garnish with orange sections. Pass mayonnaise if desired. Six servings.

Fifth grade: Victor Barker, Mitchell Gilliam, Guylla Conley, Mollie Ferguson, Iris Hutchinson, Bertha Fyffe.

Fourth grade: Mary Nickitos, Minnie Skaggs, Jim Ball, Arlie Cox, Chester Fanning, Rinford Hutchinson, McCoy Smith, Glenn Gilliam.

Third grade: Billy Fanning, Curt Ferguson, Leona Fanning.

SEWING CIRCLE MEETS

Cannel City, Ky.—The Church of God Sewing Circle met Jan. 29 at the home of Mrs. M. H. Ferguson for its regular meeting.

The devotional exercise was opened by singing "Don't Weaken the Hold of His Hand" and "Tell It to Jesus Alone." The hostess read a portion of the eighth chapter of Romans for a scripture lesson. Mrs. W. J. Terrell offered prayer.

Members present were Mrs. J. D. Benton, Mrs. Geo. Collinsworth, Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. J. W. Benton, Mrs. M. G. Dunigan, Mrs. Roy Benton, Mrs. M. H. Ferguson, Mrs. W. J. Terrell, and Mrs. Lonnie Patrick. Visitors were Miss Bertha Lacy, Miss Gladys Benton, and Miss Wilma Benton.

The afternoon was spent in setting up a wedding ring quilt. The meeting adjourned about 4 o'clock to meet with Mrs. W. J. Terrell on Feb. 12.

THE expression "nobody home" is undoubtedly slang when used to denote stupidity. It is, however, slang with the backing of Alexander Pope, one of the most eminent of the Eighteenth Century poets. One of Pope's famous couplets reads:
"You beat your pate, and fancy wit will come; Knock as you please, there's nobody at home."

An eminent man may be a prominent man, but a prominent man is not necessarily eminent. "Eminent" is properly used in speaking of a man who ranks high in his profession or the office which he holds. A prominent man is merely one who stands out from his fellows.

Had Long Vacation

Ancient Hawaiians observed a festival known as "makani" which lasted five months, during which nobody worked.

"Looser" From Dutch
The word "looser" is a word from the Dutch "loopen," meaning to run.

New York World's Fair Site From 9,000 Feet Up

NEW YORK, (Special).—Photography and ingenuity combine to show about how the New York Fair will appear in 1939 to visitors arriving from the west in planes flying at an altitude of one and three-quarters miles. Shown in the foreground is the shipping along the Hudson—Manhattan with its towers grouped about the Empire State building (center) which houses present headquarters of the Fair—and in the middle distance the 1,216½ acre site of the 1939 international exposition. To the right lies

Brooklyn and, beyond, the hinterland of Long Island. At the extreme left, spanning the East river, is the new Triborough bridge over which many of the 50,000,000 visitors expected at the Fair will motor to the convenient parking lots. A photograph of the table model of the Fair has been superimposed on the negative of the air view to show the grid of the central exhibit zone, the boat basin being constructed on Flushing Bay and the lagoons that will feature the exposition's amusement zone.
